JONATHAN ADLER

The Baxter fringed sofa is from the Baxter collection by Jonathan Adler. Melding tufted comfort and clean lines, the sofa has all-over diamond tufting and a bouillon fringe around the base adding further glamour. Also shown is the Acropolis lamp which is a modern take on neoclassical motifs. The classic iconic column form is updated with smoke acrylic with a hand-tooled nickel capital and base, and the octagonal shade with grey trim adds even more architectural detail.

CARACOLE

A beautifully flowing form with soft curves and clean-lines, Seams To Me from Caracole captures today's traditional styling. Note that the arm movement varies from thick to thin, giving the sense of fluidity and adding to its already alluring presence. Upholstered in a soft camel velvet with blush undertones, welt-less seams are contrasted and styled in a sophisticated palette of Dior grey. Adding interest are two pillows in a metallic linen and three pillows in a hammered satin jacquard. www.caracole.com
